

THE SENATE THE OBSTACLE

Hostile to the President's Programme

SENATOR CRANE AT WORK

Trying to Secure Votes For Free Raw
Materials—Opposition May
Disappear When Vote
Is Recorded.

Washington, July 20.—Two days of busy canvassing have convinced the Senate leaders that the President's "free raw material programme" faces menacing conditions in the upper branch. The downward revisionists of the Conference Committee are well satisfied with the progress of their cause there, and expect to report a bill that "will be acceptable to the House"—that is the phrase current about the Capital. This means a bill embodying most of the reductions made by the House on hides, lumber, oil, coal and iron ore, although not implying that all these articles will be made free. Speaker Cannon is confident that even with less concessions than the President wants, the House will readily accept the conference report. The doubtful situation is in the Senate, and so far it's growing worse instead of better.

Senator Crane arrived in Washington last evening and had an early and long conference with President Taft this forenoon. As the junior senator from Massachusetts had hoped to remain at home until his vote would be needed on the tariff bill, it is obvious that his presence is required to assist the President in securing the votes necessary to carry the bill through the Senate if it conforms to the President's demands for the removal of protection from the raw materials named. The conference committee will be ready to report by Thursday, but it cannot do so until the managers have reasonable assurance that their report will be acceptable to the Senate. All through the tariff session Senator Crane has rendered great service to the progress of the bill by his knowledge of inner situations and the skill with which he has harmonized many differences which would resent any other arbitration.

The work now out for him is the hardest in his senatorial career, and upon it and that of other men in the President's confidence may depend whether the Taft programme succeeds or the Senate remains in session another month threatening out its differences. The latter outcome is possible, although seasoned observers express no doubt that when the vote is taken, many of the statesmen who are now most rampant against free hides and other Western and Southern products will be found tearfully but safely lined up for the bill. The free-hide men are refusing compromise, on the ground that a duty of 7½ cents is as menacing to the independent shoe trade as 16 cents. Any duty, they say that gives the packing houses an advantage over the independent leather concerns, would place the latter at the mercy of the packing trust; and with a normal margin of profit so narrow that only a great volume of business can afford a living return, the boot and shoe men are holding their friends in the conference committee strictly to the free-hide programme.

The attitude of the ten Republican insurgents who voted against the bill for the session is over, if their courage in voting equals that in conversation. Men like Dilliver and Cummins are incensed that the President's plan does not include also a reduction of the high duties on textiles and sugar. The insurgents so far have refused to be tempted by the limited downward revision urged by President Taft; particularly as it includes the free admission of some articles, like hides and oil, which are produced in their States. The boot and shoe men are willing to accept a reduction to ten per cent and not more, but they

THE HOUSE DISCUSSES CATS.

Move to Break Up Concerts in Washington.

Washington, July 20.—"What shall be done with the homeless and surplus cats in the District of Columbia?" That was the proposition which for a time today agitated the minds of the legislators of the House of Representatives during the consideration of the urgent deficiency appropriation bill. There are many thousands of them, and the proposition was to pay the pound-master to gather them into his fold. The conclusion was reached that nothing could be done just now, so the felines will be permitted to continue their concert undisturbed.

The subject was brought up by Mr. Smith of Michigan, who sent to the desk and had read a letter from the Public Educational Association, asking for an appropriation to enable the pound master to do his duty. Mr. Mann of Illinois declared there ought to be an appropriation to take care of the surplus cats in the House office building. "It is the same way in the Treasury and other buildings," he remarked.

"What kind of cats?" someone inquired.

"Tomcats," responded a chorus of voices, which elicited shouts of laughter. "It's a slander on the building," commented Mr. Burleson of Texas, sotto voce, and another roar went up.

With this remark the discussion was ended.

But Murphy Is Not Quite Ready to Sell The Player.

New York, July 20.—President Ebbetts of the Brooklyn National league club, has made the Chicago club an offer of $20,000 for Catcher Johnny Kling who has refused to play with Chicago this year. Ebbetts wants Kling to manage the Brooklyn club.

President Murphy of the Chicago club said:

"President Ebbetts has made an offer of $20,000 for Kling but I have done nothing in regard to it. Kling is a great player and I must not act hastily in his case."

SUGAR MEN'S TIME EXTENDED

More Time to Change Plea of
"Not Guilty"

CASE GOES OVER 2 WEEKS

John E. Persons of Counsel for the Company Indicted With Other Officers, Failed to Appear in Court.

New York, July 20.—Thomas B. Harned and Gustave T. Kissel, co-defendants with the American Sugar Refining Company in the Government's action under the anti-trust law yesterday were given two weeks' extension in which to change their plea of not guilty. The postponement was asked by their attorneys before Judge Hand in the United States District Court, and agreed by Assistant United States Attorney Criminal Division. The attorneys representing the officers and directors of the company, but was declined. Tompkins McIlvaine, general counsel for the corporation, said he would be ready to plead tomorrow. Kissel and Harned are brought into the Government prosecution on an allegation that they helped negotiate the loan to Adolph Segal, Refining Company, through which the American is said to have gained control of the Pennsylvania concern. In conjunction with the officers of the American Sugar Company they pleaded not guilty on July 6. The attorneys for Kissel and Harned today intimated that the defense of their clients would be materially different from that advanced by the officers and directors of the company. John Meyer, the only one of the indicted men who had not previously entered a plea, appeared before Judge Hand today and pleaded not guilty.

PRESIDENT'S SONS BUSY.

Spend The Day Playing Golf and Tennis.

Beverly, Mass., July 20.—Golf and tennis occupied the attention of President Taft's sons yesterday. In the forenoon, Robert Taft went from the summer White House on Woodbury's Point to the links of the Essex County club, where he and Count de Chambord of the French embassy played a match. Charles Taft, the younger son, spent the morning at the Montserrat and in the afternoon, Robert and Charles both went to Montserrat, where Robert was entered in a tennis tournament.

Miss Helen Taft, the president's daughter, who is entertaining Miss Eleanor Roelker, a college friend, went for an automobile ride in the afternoon. The other members of the presidential family remained at home.

SECOND CALHOUN TRIAL ON.

Langdon in Charge of The State's Case.

San Francisco, July 20.—When the case of Patrick Calhoun, president of the United Railroads, on the indictment charging him with offering a bribe to former Supervisor John J. Furey, to vote for a trolley franchise for his corporation, was called in Judge Lawrence's department of the superior court yesterday both sides answered "ready" and the trial was begun. In the first trial, which resulted in a disagreement after it had been under way for five months, the street car president was charged with offering a bribe to former Supervisor Fred Nicholas, Francis J. Heney, who conducted the case for the prosecution during the last trial, is in Alaska as District Attorney Langdon will have charge of the case for the people until his return.

Tumblers of Ice.

Ice would at first sight seem to be the most unsuitable substance to make tumblers from. Still a Dutch engineer, H. G. T. duinker, has proved the contrary.

In working out his process Duinker has endeavored to perfect a tumbler which might present the drink in as agreeable a form as possible while complying with all requirements of the hygienic. The ideal, from the latter point of view, would obviously be a cheaply produced tumbler of ephemeral existence which after being once used would have to be thrown away, its desirability being fulfilled.

Now the ice tumbler complies most perfectly with all these desiderata. It has a conical wall three millimeters in thickness, which, however, grows slightly thicker in its lower part, being rounded off towards the bulb-shaped bottom, nine millimeters in thickness. The special form of the bottom has been chosen in order to prevent the tumbler from cracking by bursting off the bottom. The gradual thickening of the side walls was adopted with a view to allowing for the increased melting of the tumbler in its lower parts—due to the higher liquid pressure and longer contact of the drink.

The tumbler will hold one-fourth of a liter of liquid and its store of cold assures to the vessel and contents a really surprising life. The process of manufacture makes the otherwise porous ice impervious to water, especially after adding some minute amounts of innocuous vitreous matter.—From Technical World Magazine for August.

SPECIAL FAIR PRIZES.

They Will Be a Feature of The Vermont State Fair in September.

Active preparations for the Vermont State Fair at White River Junction September 21, 22, 23 and 24, are well under way and every effort is being exerted to make the event a record breaker.

President Maxwell Everts, who has not fully recovered from his long illness, is giving to the fair his full attention, and Secretary Davis is actively on the job.

Special prizes in many departments will be a strong feature of the event. In this line a good start was made last year, but volunteer prizes have been made in greater number than a year ago, and it is expected that interest in the events covered by these special prizes will greatly increase.

The Fillmore farm of New York City, the well-known railroad magnate, offers a prize of $100 to boys and girls for judging horses and cattle.

The Fillmore farm of Bennington gives $50 in three prizes for the shepherd who does his work the best, keeps the cleanest and is most gentlemanly to the public.

The Morrison farm of Barre offers $75, in four prizes, for the best Holstein bull and cow of any age, bred and owned in Vermont.

C. C. Stillman of New York City offers a silver cup valued at $125 and $150 in money for the brood mare which conforms most nearly in every respect to the standard of equine excellence established by the famous "Justin Morgan."

A special Morgan prize of $150 is offered for the best herd of horses conforming to the Morgan type. It is not necessary that the herd be owned by one person.

A special oxen prize of $250 for the largest exhibit from any state, and $50 for the best yoke of oxen is sure to bring out a great showing.

Mr. Everts offers a $100 prize for the best exhibition of sheep driving and penning of dogs.

A grand silver loving cup is offered by the American Berkshire association for the best herd of Berkshires, owned by one person.

Origen S. Seymour of South Stratford gives a $500 prize for the best flock of sheep.

The Empire Egg Maker company of Bristol gives a special $200 prize to be given to the largest exhibits of the leading breeds.

The Vermont Farm Machine company of Bellows Falls offers special premiums on butter exhibits.

Fifty dollars in special prizes is made for the best exhibit of flowers and plants.

Frank A. Kennedy of Windsor offers $150 for the best exhibit of fruit from any county in Vermont.

The Safety Valve Fruit Jar company of Salem, N. H., offers $40 in prizes for the two best and most attractive jars of fruit shown in their jars.

There are a large number of silver cups offered as special prizes. Entries are being made in all departments this early and large exhibits are assured.

STRANGER POINTS OUT CROOK.

On Information of Unknown Man Police Arrest Another Man.

Boston, July 20.—While the police were sitting at their desks in the Joy street station early yesterday afternoon commenting upon the fine weather and the dulness of their business, a stranger walked in and pointing to a man across the street informed the officer in charge that he was a man the police wanted. Without pausing to ask the stranger his name, patrolman Thompson was ordered out in a hurry and one or two of the other patrolmen were ready to assist him if need be. Thompson went straight for his man, arrested him and hurried him to the station. Meanwhile the man who had helped the police with the tip disappeared and no one knows who he was or where he came from.

Without making an attempt to have the accused confront the man just captured the officers went through the prisoner's pockets and immediately became aware that he was no ordinary criminal. He had with him a much larger supply of cash than the average man carries around, $119, and he also had other things not found in the clothing of the average man, a good revolver and a flashlight. He said that his name was George Stacy, that he was thirty-seven years old, and that he was living at the hotel Webster in the West End. Being anxious to find out still more regarding him, Stacy was escorted to police headquarters, where he was found to have served eight years at Sing Sing and four and one-half years at Rutland, Vt., for burglary. It was also discovered that he was the man for whom Chief of Police Charles Manning of Greenfield has been looking for some time. Chief Manning, by a peculiar coincidence, has been in Boston for several days in an attempt to find Stacy, and left only yesterday morning after giving it up as a fruitless search. The police do not know whether the much-wanted man had received information that he was being hunted here and kept hidden until he thought the danger had passed or whether his sudden appearance immediately after Chief Manning left was only a strange incident of the peculiar arrest.

After the different station captains and inspectors have had a chance to look him over Stacy will be turned over to the Greenfield police, who want him to answer several charges of burglary in the western part of the state.

THIRTEEN WERE EXECUTED

For the Recent Revolution.—100,000 Held Guilty for Asia Minor Massacre
A General Amnesty for All, is Recommended.

Constantinople, July 20.—Thirteen persons concerned in the recent revolution were hanged today. They include Cherkess Meimmed, Josef Pachia, the former commander of the troops at Erzeroum and Sheikh Valediti. The court-martial acquitted the proprietor of the Ikdam.

The report of the court-martial on the Odessa massacre, which has just been made public is a strong denunciation of the incapacity and apathy of the Vah and other local authorities. The report concludes as follows:

"Fifteen persons already have been hanged; eight hundred deserve death; fifteen thousand deserve hard labor for life; eighty thousand deserve minor sentences. If it is decided to proceed with the punishment, we will cordon the town and deal expeditiously with the matter."

In view, however, of the general reconciliation between the opposing elements, the report recommends that general amnesty be made the occasion of a national fête.

Madrid, July 20.—The marriage of the Infante Alfonso of Bourbon-Orleans and Princess Beatrice of Saxe-Coburg, for which the prince has been deprived of his title as a prince of Spain, was the sequel of a romance, the details of which have just been learned. Prince Alfonso recently was breveted a lieutenant and was anxious to proceed to Melilla, to which place Spain is sending large detachments of troops. While the mobilization of his brigade was in progress the prince hurried to Paris to visit his mother, the Princess Eulalie, and from there went to Coburg to say good-by to Princess Beatrice, to whom he was betrothed. Instead of farewells, there was a marriage ceremony, both civil and religious, the latter according to the catholic and Protestant rites. Although the decree of degradation, which strips the prince of his title and Spanish honors and decorations is based on his marriage without royal consent it is understood the king opposes the union because the princess declined to change her religious faith.

NEW SPANISH PRETENDER.

Carlists Place Their Hopes in Don Jaime.

Paris, July 20.—Don Jaime, son of Don Carlos of Bourbon, the pretender to the Spanish throne who died at Vitoria yesterday, left Paris today for Vitoria, under the law passed by the French Parliament, Don Carlos, in 1881, allied himself with Count de Chambord, forever banishing the eldest representatives of any family that ever reigned in France. Don Jaime hereafter will not return to Paris, where in recent years he has spent most of his time.

Madrid, July 20.—Although the Carlists leaders are divided, a majority believe the accession of Don Jaime as head of the Carlists will give a new impetus to the party. Don Jaime made repeated visits in disguise to Spain in order to counsel with his followers.

BUYING VERMONT FARMS FOR MARBLE DEPOSITS

Capitalists Are Rushing Into Real Estate Purchases on The Western Side of Vermont.

Rutland, July 20.—What is probably the largest marble deal which has been consummated in the state of Vermont in many years was completed Saturday when between 15 and 20 farms in the towns of Tinnmouth and Danby, involving nearly 10 miles of continuous marble property ranging from half a mile in width and including from 8,000 to 10,000 acres of land, were bought by George C. Underhill of this city and his associates.

Reports from Tinnmouth are to the effect that Mr. Underhill and his associates have bought practically all of the farms in the west part of the town and extending several miles into Danby. It is also understood that the Vermont Marble company has been buying several farms in Clarendon during the last week, either buying farms outright or buying the mineral rights.

For over 100 years it has been known to a few that there were various outcroppings of marble here and there in Tinnmouth and it is now said that the largest body of marble in the state has laid all of these years undeveloped in the town of Tinnmouth.

A Rutland marble man, who did not care to be quoted, said Saturday that if it be true that there is a continuous marble vein running through Tinnmouth and into Danby as reported it would contain much more than half of all the marble in the state.

The Moorish cavalry swarmed down on the Spanish headquarters, firing their guns as they approached. The tribesmen displayed fanatical bravery and their headlong charge was only stopped by a deadly fire from the Spanish batteries. The Moors returned to the attack during the night and the battle was still raging this morning.

The Spanish losses were important, among the dead being a lieutenant colonel, a commandant and a captain.
